COUNTY FATHERS READY FOR WAR

IF THERE IS ANY CHANCE OF VICTORY.

ON THE REGISTER OF DEEDS

Special Committee Given Full Power To Act—Numerous Resolutions Passed—Copying of Records Goes On.

Scenes and language bordering on the dramatic followed the introduction of the special committee's report and recommendations regarding Register of Deeds Charles H. Weirick at the county board's session, late yesterday afternoon. In the end the same committee, which consists of Supervisors L. E. Gottlieb, Charles E. Moore, M. P. Richardson, F. F. Livermore, and John R. Jones, was entrusted with full power to carry out the various resolutions passed by the County Fathers and proceed against Mr. Weirick in any and all ways deemed advisable after consultation with the legal authorities.

Livermore Heart-Broken.

Supervisor F. F. Livermore faced the reading of the committee's resolutions with some preliminary remarks of a highly emotional character. He said in part: "I've been a member of this board for 12 years. At intervals during that twelve years we have had some strenuous sessions. There have been matters that have tried men's souls. But I want to say in all candor and good faith that there has never been anything which has reached down to the bottom of my heart as has this situation in the abstract office. As a man we've worked with him (the register) shoulder to shoulder; we've taken pride in him; we've given him everything he asked for. I've loved him as a brother. It was a source of great pleasure to me in the last campaign that Beloit returned him to his post of honor when all the rest of the county said 'Nay!' But I place fidelity to my constituents before any friendship. I stand before you to read this report with heartfullings and sorrow. We present the facts to you in all faith and sincerity, believing that we are doing Rock county nothing but justice in defending it against all evildoers."

The report contained declarations to the effect that Mr. Weirick is devoting his time to making copies of all the abstract books of the county; that he has in his employ in this undertaking eleven persons; that the deputies under the said Weirick have given certain time to the work; that the said Weirick has gained "all his knowledge of obstructing in this office; that in addition to his salary of $3,800 he has received and is receiving half of all the fees for obstructing, the sum being in excess of $1,200 per annum; that the said abstract books were acquired by the county, in 1881, at a cost of more than $3,000, and that they are now worth more than $15,000; that the said Weirick has admitted that he intended to engage in a private abstract business in direct competition with the county; that he absented himself from his post in December and January, leaving the office in charge of deputies, and engaged in the employ of a railroad company, receiving pay for his services and at the same time drawing his salary here; and therefore he is resolved that the said actions and conduct constitute breaches of official faith and the trust reposed in him by the people of the county; and be it further resolved that he be notified to immediately cease copying the said records and remove from the said office all persons under his personal employ, refrain from further engaging in such work, and desist from copying the said records.

Mr. Weirick Summoned.

Mr. Weirick was summoned before the board and remained in the room throughout the duration of the session. After the report of the special committee had been read to him he said: "I am not a speaker—I object to the terms of these resolutions. I don't think they are just. I am represented by attorneys and I would like to have them say a few words. They shall be intimated that the board would hear M. G. Jefferts."

"Of course it lies within the power of this board to adopt the resolutions if it sees fit," said Mr. Jefferts in opening. He then asked if the document just read was the complete report and was informed that it was. Resounding he said in part: "Gentlemen you were called here today to investigate an alleged failure on Mr. Weirick's part to pay certain fees to the county. This thing is an outrage. There is not a syllable in it about fees. But you propose to brand this man as having violated his official trust under a call that accuses him of having wrongfully converted county money to his own uses. This little matter of his having absented himself from the office is so trivial that this board cannot afford to stigmatize itself by passing such a trifling censure. There isn't a county officer who doesn't take weeks—there isn't a judge who doesn't take months. There are few, if any of them, who do not have outside business interests. There is not a syllable to indicate that Mr. Weirick has ever been derelict in any duty. There has never been a single intimation made in his office. It has been as faithfully and carefully conducted as any office in Rock county. And yet the proposition is that because he took a vacation of a few weeks this board of 37 men shall brand him as derelict in duty. Place yourself with his wife and children and see how you would like to have 37 men spend here and pass resolutions such as have been proposed. When Livermore spoke there were tears in his voice but I fear that there were no tears in his heart. This committee must coact by its own feelings of fact that Mr. Weirick has not done a thing that he did not have a perfect right to do. Some of you may differ as to whether it was ethical and courteous in him

Chicago, March 25.—Twenty persons are reported dead in a fire which attacked the plush Furniture company building at 1902-1908 Wabash avenue here today. Forty employees escaped but one girl who jumped from the third story window died at the hospital.

The dead were trapped, it is said, on the fourth, fifth, and sixth floors when the flames entered the building to search for the bodies.

The fifth and sixth floors collapsed falling in a tangled mass to the fourth. A half hour's search resulted in the recovery of but three bodies. At 12:49 seven bodies in all had been recovered, most of them burned and mangled almost beyond recognition.

At 2:30 this afternoon twelve bodies had been recovered and identified.

FOREST FIRE RAGED NEAR THUNDER LAKE

One Hundred and Sixty Employees of Northern Hydro-Electric Co. Worked All Day to Save Plant.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Green Bay, Wis., March 25.—A fire originating in the forest near Thunder Lake swept down on the camp at High Falls where the Northern Hydro-Electric company is harnessing the water power of the Peshtigo river. Every man of the 160 employees there was called upon to fight the flames to save the camp equipment. President Frank H. Josslyn of Oshkosh and a party from Green Bay and Marinette business men were at the camp at the time and their services were also required to fight the flames. In the northern part of Oconto and Marinette counties the farmers yesterday had hard times extinguishing fire which were helped along by the heavy wind.

LA FOLLETTE'S VIEW.

So much has been said and written of the recent trouble in congress when Cooper and three other Wisconsin congressmen sought to add the democrats to oust Cannon from the speakership that it is interesting to read just what Senator La Follette has to say about the matter and the results obtained by the revolt against organized republicanism. Everyone knows that Lenroot is merely La Follette's mouthpiece in the lower house and that Cooper follows blindly the teachings of his "master." Consequently La Follette's own ideas on the subject are most interesting and in today's issue of his weekly he says:

"Out from the center of the smoke of battle which raged at Washington for three days last week, Senator La Follette in today's issue of his weekly magazine says that 'The effect of this contest in the house has been greatly exaggerated.' Senator La Follette believes that the change in the house rules increasing the members of the committee from five to ten, without the speaker as chairman, to be selected by a committee, will accomplish little."

The new committee on rules shall have the same power as the old committee on rules, that is; whenever a majority of its members so determine, it is privileged to present for the consideration of the house a special resolution with respect to some particular bill or proceedings. It has always had that power. The republican majority of this committee on rules will be named by a republican committee. The steel trust, the sugar trust, the beef trust, in short, the system will control in that committee an overwhelming majority. It dominates both branches of congress. It speaks through Aldrich in the senate and through Cannon in the house. It will name the new committee on rules.

"Cannon will not be a member of the committee, but the 'system' will be potential on that committee as though Cannon were its chairman. Sheltered behind the committee, he will be as effective an instrument for wrong as though he were still its head and front. He may be even more dangerous. His offensive arrogance, his coarse borsomality will be less conspicuous."

Senator La Follette says that so long as the republican majority in the house serves the 'system' it will make little difference whether or not Cannon is a member of the committee on rules.

"Cannon without Cannon is just as hurtful to the country as Cannon with Cannon. The people must understand that Cannon is a short definition of government by that system." Aldrich and Cannon would have little power for evil if a majority

For the Man Who Wants to be Shown

MR. JONES SAYS:

'I always pay about $14.00 for a ready-made suit, and while your prices are all right, I don't feel that I could spend that much for my clothes.'

I SAY:

'Now I will just point out some things to you that possibly never occurred to you before. You say that you will spend $14.00 for a ready-made suit. Now, that $14.00 split costs you more than the one you get from me at $20.00, because you don't get $14.00 worth of value, and with a few dollars added to that $14.00 you get something that is worth while.'

"When I make a suit to your measure just as you want it, from guaranteed materials, I give you garments that will look as well when you take them off after several months wear as they did when you put them on the first time, because they are built on a substantial foundation. The shape won't change, because they are shaped by hand to fit you, while a ready-made suit has to be skimped on the inside. They cannot afford to put in high grade hair cloth, linen canvas or pure wool padding—you don't pay them enough, because they want to make just the same per cent profit on a $14.00 suit as they do a more expensive one."

"You are paying more for that $14.00 suit than for the one I sell you for $20.00. A man really is foolish to buy cheap clothes, because he cannot get service out of them—can't get his money's worth."

"What is more comfortable than slipping into a suit that you have become familiar with—a suit that holds its shape? THAT'S COMFORT, not found in a 'hand-me-down' suit which has lost its character and become a shapeless bag—a collection of wrinkles and puckers. Ready-made clothes are made to fit dummies—dummies are built alike—all men are created equal but they are built on different lines."

Don't spend $14.00 for a ready-made suit—get real men's clothes and have them made to fit you—built to your own lines. I can sell you a suit that you can be proud to wear and it will keep its shape first and last—it is guaranteed. That's something a ready-made suit won't do."

Mr. Jones has another objection to my line, which I will answer in these columns in a few days. Watch for it.

NORRIS WIELDS GAVEL IN CANNON'S PLACE

Nebraskan Occupies Speaker's Chair in House for Short Time.

Washington, Mar. 25.—Congressman Norris wielded the gavel over the house for ten minutes during the temporary absence of Speaker Cannon. "It felt queer to sit in Cannon's chair," admitted Judge Norris, "but then I did not mind it. In fact, I liked it. It was for a few minutes only, but the chair was comfortable and the house was in good baylor."

Speaker Cannon was not present. Mr. Prince of Illinois was chairman of the committee of the whole considering the pension appropriation bill. He got tired. He called Norris to him and resigned the gavel. Norris handed with vigor to show who was in the chair and the house applauded. The bill carrying appropriations aggregating $150,000,000 was passed after the provision to abolish 18 pension agencies throughout the country had been defeated.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY FORMED.

Pennsylvania Federation of Labor Launches a New Organization.

Philadelphia, Mar. 25.—Re-entiment by union labor against the political influences which have been at work in support of the Rapid Transit Company during the street car strike took tangible form when there was formed in Labor Lyceum hall an independent labor political party.

Approximately 1,000 delegates, representing the large majority of union organizations in the city, met behind closed doors and decided upon this step, which is in accordance with the call issued by the State Federation of Labor in Pittsburgh last December for an independent labor party.

This meeting was the principal feature of activity growing out of the strike situation during the day. So far as could be learned no further overtures were made to bring about an immediate settlement of the car men's strike.

CAIRO JURY INDICT RIOTERS.

Twelve Citizens Are Charged with Forming Mob to Lynch.

Cairo, Ill., Mar. 25.—The special grand jury that has been investigating the work of the mob that attacked the county jail on the night of February 17, and tried to take out the negro, John Pratt, the purse snatcher, and lynch him, found indictments against 12 persons charging them with forming a mob. Those indicted were: Frank Gurman, Alderman; James Davids, police constable; C. C. Foster, former deputy circuit clerk; Lee Watson, stock dealer; Samuel R. Weesinger, deputy sheriff; W. H. Simpson, wholesale lumber dealer; James Casey, former police officer; J. B. Scott, blacksmith; William C. Charles, heavy business; George B. Walker, newspaper correspondent; G. P. COAL SETTLEMENT IS IN SIGHT.

Western Pennsylvania and Indiana Operators to Compromise.

Cincinnati, Mar. 25.—For the first time since the miners and operators of Ohio, Indiana and western Pennsylvania went into a joint conference here over two weeks ago peace for at least two-thirds of those concerned appeared in sight.

The subcommittee adjourned to meet with the scale committee of the whole this morning and make a report. While this report was not given out officially, yet unoffically it was learned that the operators of western Pennsylvania had issued their ultimatum, which consisted of an increase in wages for the miners of five cents per ton on pick work. Indiana is also rumored to have offered this compromise, but the rumor could not be verified. Ohio operators are standing firm in opposition to any concessions.

H. Sloane, her niece by marriage. Indefinitely it explains why Mrs. Sage has been kept almost a prisoner at the cottage near the Raymond hotel.

New York, Mar. 25.—Five women, probably the first of their sex to be indicted as violators of an anti-trust law, are among the 87 poultry dealers charged with conspiring to restrict trade and boost prices. All are members of an unincorporated organization of kosher poultry dealers in Harlem.

The indicted dealers are said to control 90 per cent. of all the poultry dealt in in New York markets.

to make copies of the county records, but you charge to those resolutions that he has been guilty of a violation of his oath of office. You charge him with a breach of faith. What faith has he violated? There is neither a breach of faith nor duty. It's unjust and unfair to Mr. Weirick—a public officer. This committee comes in with a report under a seal intimating that there has been some diversion of funds—embezzlement. If you please, this committee doesn't even give him the justification of saying that there is nothing in that charge. Every man who votes for that resolution will be ashamed of his vote within ten days. It is conceded that Mr. Weirick is guilty of no violation of the law—or his duties as an officer. If he had injured Rock county—if any paper had been improperly received, it would be a different proposition. It may be that he will have no remedy, because of the form it has taken, for this fort, to bewitch his character, but he will challenge any man to state this conclusion you draw anywhere where he does have a remedy."

"Breach of Confidence."

Supervisor M. P. Richardson said in part: "This resolution in no way limits, for instance, any other resolution exonerating Mr. Weirick of anything connected with the fees. The report gives a foundation for every conclusion reached. It says that he has taken advantage of his position to make a copy of the books and that this is a breach of trust. It may not be reprehensible from a legal standpoint but the county didn't put him there for any such purpose and it's a breach of that confidence which the people reposed in him. That he has been an efficient, capable, and judicious officer is conceded. But everybody agrees that aside from the legal aspects of the proposition, a moral question is involved. For him to make a copy of the books that cost the county $15,000—for him to utilize his position for such a purpose with the sole object of putting the county out of business—everybody must agree that this constitutes a breach of the confidence reposed in him! The language of the resolution accuses him of nothing criminal."

"Not 'Damned Hypocrites.'

At this juncture, Chairman L. E. Gotts called Supervisor Paul to the chair and took the floor and said: "I hadn't thought that I'd say anything but I am going to do so because my position is directly opposite to the suggestion of Jeffris that this action is hasty and that we'll go home to have our days and nights filled with evil dreams. I think every member of the board who has known it has been giving this matter his most careful thought. This board is conservative and economical to the extreme. I am here today that if this body had not been stirred to bottom there would have been no special meeting involving the expenditure of the county's money. And it isn't for him to say that we're here for ulterior and futile purposes. We're here, perhaps, helping—well see about that later—but there wasn't one who signed the cult who didn't do so in response to the overwhelming opinion of the county. We are here in response to that public opinion and he needn't brush it aside as trivial." Mr. Jeffris tried to be temperate, but he couldn't quite contain himself. He had to go and put a sharp blade into Livermore—Livermore who has been on this board for eleven years—a man who has worked constantly with an eye single to the best interests of Rock county—and everybody knows it! It was because I knew that he was an honest man, it was because I knew that he had been a bosom friend of Weirick, that I appointed him on this committee. And when he says his heart bleeds I believe he is sincere. I say that Jeffris is wrong, and intentionally wrong. I say that he blames that every member of the board is a damned hypocrite and nothing more and I don't care whether it comes from Rock county's most important attorney or a ditch-digger. As to whether it is a breach of faith to stick it into Rock county, I haven't a word to joke back. But I've no special pride in the resolution. I apprehend that the action of this board today may and will redound to the good of Rock county. I don't think there ever was a register who more faithfully, efficiently, and accurately performed his duties and I've said that to Weirick, face to face, many times. It isn't a personal question. No voter dreamed of his making abstract books; dreamed of his threatened purpose to compete with the county. I think his proposition to take the private books in the first place exploded—the volume—the volume which prompted him. It isn't the board that is branding him—he's bound and applied the brand himself, if any such there be. We're men with gray hairs—many of us—and some of us with none at all—and the time's gone by when we could be frightened by the big boy."

"Branded By Main Strength."

"That just shows the difficulty," said Mr. Jeffris in reply. "I admit that I'm an advocate. But then, you see, I have an advocate against me, and he's just as strong as I am and stronger, maybe, because he's got a vote. I didn't say anything about any boy man or tell you that you didn't know what you were doing. I know nearly everyone of you and I know you as able, capable men. This resolution says: 'certainly breaches of official faith.' What does that mean? You can't make a breach without violation of your official duty and your oath. And further on it says violation of the duties of his office. Nobody has claimed it. There cannot be any brand applied and applied except as you apply it by main strength. If it were any other man you'd say: let us not pass judgment—let him have his day in court. Mr. Richardson has said that the resolution can mean no more than the complaints on which it is founded. That is untrue. If Mr. Weirick has been guilty of a breach of official duty, then he's liable and the courts are open. But they say: 'Well, we're helpless—and it won't hurt him much, I say it's an outrage on him. I say he has some rights here as a citizen and man. They say he's guilty of disloyalty of a crime. They ask you to spread it on the minutes, without a trial, when there isn't a word of truth in it."

Dramatic Climax.

To which Mr. Gotts made this impudent reply: "Mr. Jeffris still sticks to his slogan that this board has no right to criticize or condemn an officer except for crime. There are a series of offenses against society that are more despicable and more contemptible than the offenses for which men go to jail. He hasn't much to say about the moral and ethical aspects but he will stand on his legal rights. I want to give notice that we'll take the same position—we'll stand on ours. If he is anxious to clear his skirts let him play the part of a man—stand up here and say: 'I'll desist from stealing those records'—and we'll withdraw the resolution!"

Mr. Jeffris: "Mr. Gotts, do you charge Mr. Weirick with stealing the records?"

Mr. Gotts—"No."

Adopted—Later Amended.

Supervisor Simon Hintz wanted to know whether, if the resolutions were adopted, Mr. Weirick could be prevented from going ahead and completing the copies. Supervisor Richardson admitted that the legal aspect of the matter was debatable but intimated that other resolutions about to be introduced would provide for taking every possible step to prevent the continuation of this work. The report was adopted, an overwhelming majority voting in the affirmative, but it was later reconsidered and amended in such a way as to eliminate the franchises of official faith and violation of duties by the following substitute paragraph:

"That the said action of the said Charles H. Weirick is believed to be a gross breach and violation of the confidence and trust placed in him by the people of the county of Rock."

Other Resolutions.

The next resolution, which was introduced and passed recited that complaints had been made against the girls working for Mr. Weirick in the register's office, declared that they constituted a public nuisance, and gave the special committee full power to act.

The next one directed the same committee to make an inquiry into the fees received by Mr. Weirick and reported at the April meeting.

The next one, reciting as it did that the purchasing committee had sold sixteen blank books to Mr. Weirick, without authority, and calling on that body to return the $48, demand the volumes, and on his refusal to surrender them, begin a replevin action for their recovery, was the occasion of considerable debate. It was finally modified so as to put the procedure in the hands of the special committee, and passed.

Another resolution which was introduced by Supervisor Moore and passed, called on the court to appoint an assistant to the district attorney in all this litigation and left it to the special committee to fix the salary. The board passed its resolution.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"For all sad words of tongue or pen
The saddest of these: It might have been."

AND ALSO about the most foolish:

The man who never does a thing in imagination until it's time to do it actually, and who once having done a thing, never thinks it imagination, is the man who gets the most out of his energies.

For the most part I'm not very superstitious, but I believe in one kind of "hauls," and I think it is a very dangerous one, and that is "vain regrets."

Nothing on earth saps any one's energy more than regrets.

Suppose you are going somewhere and have the choice between one route and another, and you choose one and then find that you would have done better to take the other. The loss of time, of course, is unfortunate, but why, by reckoning just how much time you would have gained the other way and just how much you could have done in the lost time, and saying, "If I had only gone the other way," should you tear down your brain tissue with fretting and add to the loss of time a loss of energy?

If I had telephoned to the office before I started to town yesterday I could have gone directly to the place where I was to be sent, met the man whom the editor wished me to see and finished my work by noon.

As it was, it took me an hour longer than necessary to get to the place, I missed the man, had to wait two hours for him to return, and didn't finish my work until late in the afternoon.

As I sat there waiting my mind started in to say itself with "It might have been," and "If you only had had sense enough to call up," and other recriminations along that line, and I began to think what I might be doing if only—

And then I stopped and said, "I've wasted enough energy by mulling this mistake, I won't waste any more by regretting it."

And I shamed that regretful train of thought clean off the track and immediately started another one in its place so that it shouldn't be able to get back in the marvelous way unruly trains of thought so often do.

I know a woman who, after having made many important purchases, almost always goes the rounds of all the shops she has not yet visited in order to see if by any chance she could have done better.

Imagine inviting and coaxing regrets into your mind in that absolutely lame way.

Most of us are besieged with enough of them without going out to hunt for them like that.

"How is he able to accomplish so tremendously much?" I asked in regard to a big political man the other day.

His secretary looked thoughtful, "I think," he said slowly, "it's because when a thing is done he puts it absolutely and utterly aside."

That meant mistakes as well as everything else.

Mistakes, "It might have been," "If I only hads" are bitter things, of course, but he who wastes himself in regretting an irrevocable mistake is merely making it twice.

Tub Dresses

Tub dresses are really the most essential part of a woman's summer wardrobe and may be made of linen, gingham, muslin or pointed. In style they should be rather plain, with much little elaboration in trimming as will though still a good model, is giving laundress well. The one-piece gown, place to a belted gown, which may be made in two parts if so desired. Band trimming, buttons and embroidery are used as trimming for wash dresses.

—BY MARY RUSSELL.

Did you hear a bluebird pip? Were you wakened by the robin's merry "cheer up" song? And you thought that was the first sign of spring? You were mistaken. It be not even the groundhog and his uncertain shadow that was the strongest sign.

I came upon a friend. The whole family was gathered around the study-table and all were so intent that they hardly glanced up as I approached.

"What is it?" I queried. "An Afri- can hunt for wild beasts or a dash for the polo mazze?"

"Whist!" said the rotund father of the family. "The seed catalog!

Come out!"

Giving alcohol, in some form, to your children? All right, if your doctor says so. But does he say so? Are you sure of it? Or are you giving some alcoholic medicine without his knowledge? Let your doctor decide all such vital questions. He knows. Let him decide about Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a strong tonic for the young. Not a drop of alcohol in it. No stimulation. No alcohol habit.

Alcohol To Boys and Girls

A lazy liver makes a lazy boy. An active brain demands an active liver. No better laxative for boys and girls than Ayer's Pills. Ask your doctor about them. He knows.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

DIET CURE FOR GASTRIC CATARRH.

Gastric catarrh is one of the commonest and one of the most oppressive of ailments. When the stomach and intestines are coated with mucus there is constant putrefaction of food with resulting auto-intoxication. When poisonous matter is being absorbed from the alimentary canal there cannot be a clear mind nor a uniform body. This condition is indicated by coated tongue, dark rings under the eyes, weak memory, indecision, loss of will power, general depression. Exercise, especially walking, massage, cold bathing (with discretion), deep breathing, optimism, are all beneficial in restoring health, but regulation of diet is most helpful. An exclusive diet of buttermilk for from five to twenty days or longer, the buttermilk made from fresh separated milk, with lactone tablets, to be obtained at the druggist, has been found very successful in many cases in which the ordinary treatment failed. Confidence based on understanding is important.

Peary's Own Story

Thrilling Adventures in Arctic Hunting: Preparations for the Long Night

Here in quick, terse language as vivid and dynamic as lightning, Commander Peary describes the great hunting; the stocking up of game food,—deer, musk oxen, and polar bear; the laying-to of the Roosevelt for the long winter night amid the ice, awaiting the Spring and the sunlight for the final dash.

No narrative since Caesar's own book on the Gallic Wars has contained such graphic detail handled in so simple and self-revelatory a style. De Bello Gallico is a Latin Classic; Peary's Discovery of the North Pole, as instalment after instalment appears, is slowly forming the conviction in men's minds that here is an Anglo-Saxon Classic.

For the first time the true record of this powerful organization is recounted, giving information from private letters, court records, etc. Mr. Russell's minute analysis of the careers of Collis P. Huntington, Leland Stanford, Charles Crocker and Mark Hopkins throws a strong searchlight upon American railroad methods; shows how the whole state of California was throttled; how the "ultimate consumer" has had a staggering burden of debt put upon his shoulders to increase his cost of living.

The Great Millionaire Mill

The Story of the Southern Pacific Railroad System and the Great Fortunes Created by It

By Charles Edward Russell

If you read nothing else in the whole month of April we urge you to read this Alaskan sensation. It tells the story of the great natural wealth of Alaska in figures that no mind can grasp. One estimate of the gold, the copper and the coal amounts to $17,070,500,000, and from this the estimates range as high as one trillion, five hundred and thirteen billion, nine hundred and thirty-five million dollars!

OLIVE OIL.Under the Pure Food Law all oil made from olives is pure olive oil, yet there is no much difference in olive oil as there is in butter.Cheap olive oil is made from olives that through cause of decay, insects or storms fall to the ground. Sound, healthy olives stay on the trees until ripe, like our apples. They are then gathered, the oil pressed without heat.
This is virgin olive oil.The second pressing is obtained with steam and hot water, which is known as blue table oil. The rich flavor and medicinal properties are found only in the virgin oil, which is of a greenish-yellow color. It is very nutritious. Used in nervous diseases as a mild laxative; has a great reputation as a remedy for stones in the bladder, and is a skin food and complexion beautifier through its action on the liver. "The supply of this virgin oil is always limited. It is quickly bought up for medicinal purposes and found only in drug stores.Mr. Young, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, personally tests our olive oil. You are therefore positive

Exceptional Display of Easter Apparel

Smart Suits Priced Moderately

This season's innovation in suits is the short coat; from 31 to 36 inches long are the season's favored lengths, with the 34 inch in the lead for popularity. Long revers of satin and the shawl collar reaching to the waist line, where appear one or two buttons, are very smart and effective. There is no end to the many smart ideas the designers have brought out. Collars are often finished with embroidery in high colors. Skirts are the plaited models and are mostly trimmed by their own fabrics. Usually the decorative scheme is accomplished in the plaiting and cutting.

Materials are mostly the plain French sorge. It is to be a very practical season in the way of color, navy blue taking the lead with tan or gold in new shades, and the always popular black a very close second, while black and white checks are many and beautiful.

The moderate pricing of these suits is one of our special features which are a delight to our customers, who are unstinted in their praise of the display of low pricing. New suits.....$15 to $40

All Records Broken

2521 Burroughs Machines

were sold in December, 1909, which was more than any other adding machine company sold in the entire year of 1909.

All previous Burroughs records for one month's sales were beaten by 487 machines.

In all 15,703 Burroughs machines were sold during the year ended December 31, 1909. Previous Burroughs records for a single year were broken by 1617 machines.

The sales of this Company for 1909 were more than the combined sales of all other adding and listing companies for any three years of adding machine history.

During 1909 more Burroughs machines were sold outside of the United States than were sold in the same territory by all other adding and listing machine companies during the six years from 1903 to 1909 inclusive.

These records didn't happen.

They show that more and more the up-to-date business men every where in the world, are waking up to the fact that there is not a business of any description where figures are handled which is not losing money every day it does without a Burroughs Adding and Listing Machine—losing enough money in the aggregate to pay for a Burroughs many times over.

These records mean something to you.

Drop us a card, and we will be glad to have our representative call upon us—without cost or the slightest obligation on your part, and show you how to make more money by saving time in your office work.

BLACK HANDE SLAIN IN DUEL.
Italian Extorts $2,000 from Merchant
—Is Killed by Sheriff.

Pueblo, Colo., Mar. 25.—An unidentified member of the Italian Black Hand who had extorted $2,000 from Tony Santano, a rich merchant, upon the threat of death, was shot and instantly killed in a running duel with six special sheriffs on the open prairie, three miles southeast of the city limits. His partner, who secured a portion of the money from beneath a tin can where it was hidden, is thought to have been shot through the arm, but escaped on horseback.

Three hundred shots were fired by the desperate Italians, and both fought fiercely.

President Taft is a member of the corporation, and in case Pinchot is elected the pair will again be brought into close personal relations.

The injuries consist chiefly of cuts and bruises. The train continued its trip to a hospital near the tracks. Here the injured were placed in ambulances and carried the short remaining distance to the hospital.

New York, Mar. 25.—Dr. Simon Flexner of the Rockefeller Institute, who has been laboring for years to find an antidote for spinal meningitis, has at last succeeded in perfecting a serum that, in early stages of the disease, is as effective as the anti-toxin which has swept the fear of the death from diphteria.

MT. ETNA AGAIN VIOLENT, SICILY IS IN TERROR

River of Melted Lava Destroys Three Towns, Renders Hundreds Homeless.

Catania, Sicily, Mar. 25.—Mount Etna, whose eruptions in the past have wrought great destruction, is again in a violent state of activity. Hundreds of peasants have already been made homeless and three small towns have been destroyed.

A pronounced movement within the crater was noticed before it became dangerous and hundreds of those living within the immediate range of the crater took their belongings and hastened to safer regions.

From Catania a correspondent motored in the direction of the mountain, passing the village of Macalucchia, 12 miles in a direct line from the center, a thick curtain of smoke was encountered which entirely concealed Etna. At Nicolosi, ten miles from the crater, the entire population had gathered in the square to watch the volcano, which appeared as a phantom above. Now and then it was illuminated with flashes of light, appearing almost red.

Help for the people of the devastated region is being organized here. A detachment of soldiers and a large number of engineers and doctors have gone forward.

The authorities have issued orders that no one shall be permitted to go beyond Belpasso, and soldiers have been stationed at various points to see that these orders are obeyed.

Prof. Ricco, director of Mount Etna observatory, said: "The eruption is very grave and I think it will become much more serious. The lava has covered five miles in 16 hours and, if my calculations are right, this eruption of the volcano will not be short."

A PRETTY WEDDING IN NORTH HARMONY

Mica Rosina Sommerfeldt Married to George Tess of Johnstown Wednesday, March 16.

(Special to the Gazette)

North Harmony, March 16.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. August Sommerfeldt was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday, March 16, when their daughter, Miss Rosina, was united in marriage to George Tess, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Tess of Johnstown. The ceremony took place at eight o'clock in the parlor of the home under an arch of green and white, from the center of which a horsehair was hung. The impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Bergmann of Milton in the presence of about fifty relatives in a beautifully embroidered gown and carried a bouquet of carnations. Miss Anna Tess, a sister of the bride, and Emma Wittforf, maid of honor, were the bridesmaids. Oscar Sommerfeldt, a brother of the bride, and Edward Tess, the groom's brother, acted as groomsmen. After congratulations had been extended to the happy couple, a delicious wedding supper was served.

The parlor, where the ceremony was performed, was beautifully decorated with green and white, and the dining room in red and white.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. William Sommerfeldt of Janesville, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bartz Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Schubert, Charles Bartz, Sr., and the Misses Emma Wittforf, Anna, Minnie, Mary and Elizabeth Sommerfeldt, all of Edgerton; Arthur Wagner of Whitewater, and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Godfrey of Johnstown Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Tess will commence housekeeping on the Clark farm about a mile and a half south of Milton.

Cherub Devine

By

SEWELL FORD

Copyright, 1909, by Mitchell Kennerley.

A low grumble of distant thunder caused the countess to shudder her wearily. "I'm going away."

"There!" he exclaimed reproachfully. "It's going to rain, you see. Did you hear that?"

"Yes, I heard."

"But where are you going?"

The countess stopped abruptly and turned to say: "I think I told you, Mr. Devine, that I did not care to discuss my plans with you at all. Will you give me my bag?"

"No," said the Cherub. "I shall lug it myself, and I shall follow you until I see you safe somewhere."

With a gesture of impatience the countess resumed her way.

A brisk breeze sprung up somewhere.

The treetops began to rock and sway like drunken men. Several sharp crashes of thunder came in quick succession, and the bare highwayumbered for an instant from indistinct gloom as the lightning revealed every detail.

Then there came a hush. Big drops of rain fell with maiming impact on the eaves of the Cherub's open hut.

"Here! I told you it was going to rain," he announced. "Hold on; now I'm going to put this coat on you."

The countess hesitated. He had dropped the bag and was holding up the coat by the collar. Another and more vivid flash than any which had preceded it revealed him with photographic distinctness. She could not help noting that he looked very well in evening dress. He did not seem so much inclined to stoutness as in business suit.

"Now you need the coat yourself. You'll be wet through in a moment." The big drop struck through her thin silk sleeves coldly on her arms.

Then she allowed him to help her into the raincoat.

"Come on," he said, picking up the bag and starting ahead. The rain was now drumming a rattling tattoo on the crown of his hat.

"You must take my arm or you'll fall," ordered the Cherub. Meekly she obeyed, and they went plumping and sliding through the storm.

"Oh, you're being drenched!" said the countess. Apparently he did not hear. "You are wet through, aren't you?" she shouted in his ear.

"Not quite," he answered calmly. "Come on."

There ensued a period during which they stumbled and slid along in silence. At last they discovered several houses near the road.

"We're getting into the village," announced the Cherub. "Isn't that where we want to go?"

"Yes," said the countess. "I suppose so."

"But where? Whereabouts in the village?"

"The railroad station."

"The railroad station?" The Cherub echoed this as if he had never heard the words before. "What do you want to go there for?"

"Because I am going away," said the countess.

EFFECTS OF OVEREATING.

Whether we underrate or overeat is now a bone of contention with the doctors. Some think there is danger of under-eating, if "heart failure" were diagnosed "overeating" every time, the percentage of successful guesses would be large. The thought of overeating is unpleasant, but most of us will, privately, at least, plead guilty.

One may underrate, though that is very rare. It is common enough, however, to eat twice too much, yet fail to get enough of certain elements. One must eat too much rice, potatoes, white bread, to get enough albumen, and one may be eating far too much of those, with boiled vegetables, pies and cakes, and hardboiled eggs, and yet suffer for want of assimilable iron, potash, sodium and other mineral elements. The system is then exhausted eliminating the waste of the superfluous mixed foods and accumulating poisons from failure to do this properly. To reduce the quantity and substitute whole cereal bread with nuts, and eat only fresh fruit or cabbage or lettuce occasionally, in the morning, is the natural remedy.

In a dazed manner Mr. Hewington inspected once more the obviously damp condition of Mr. Devine's rat-meat.

"Yes, yes, Adele, I suppose it is all right, but it is not yet clear in my mind."

The Cherub was not inclined to continue the dialogue, "Oh, we'll straighten that all out in the morning, Mr. Hewington."

A moment later the chimes of a French clock announced the hour of 3.

"Three o'clock!" exclaimed the Cherub. "I don't believe you'll catch that 7:30 train, will you, countess?"

She had started up the stairs, but she turned to smile and shake her head. It was a friendly smile.

CHAPTER VII.

BUT why should I stay here? Why do you want me to stay?"

The countess was asking Mr. Devine these questions with as much sincerity as if there could be no possible reason why he should object to her leaving Hewington Acres.

"Why—why, because you ought to, because I want you to stay. Don't you see? I want you to stay."

For the better part of the day the Cherub had been waiting for just this opportunity. Now that it had come he stood staring at her with a blank, baffled look in his blue eyes.

The countess glanced curiously at him with a light laugh.

He had found her in her favorite retreat, rustic summer house perched on a little point of rocks which jutted out into the sound and marked the eastern boundary of the estate.

"It's very kind of you, Mr. Devine," she said. "I'm sure, but I don't feel that I can accept such a favor from you, from a stranger, you know."

"All right, all right! I won't leave you. We'll go together and find someone. See? It isn't raining nearly so hard as it was. I think the shower must be almost over. Shall we start now?"

The countess was quite ready. There was a lively stable just across from the station, she said. Fortunately they found a night hostler dozing in the office. It was with difficulty, however, that he could be induced to harness a pair of horses. His chief desire seemed to be to gaze at the dripping clothes of Mr. Devine.

The drive back to Hewington Acres was silent and uneventful. As they neared the house they saw that it was brightly illuminated. Out through the open front door streamed a broad pathway of light across which figures were moving. One of these was Mr. Hewington.

BADGER FRUITS ARE DESCRIBED

Strawberries: forty-five years ago

Mrs. Morris and Jenkins had a friendly contest here in this city, to see who could grow the most on a square rod of ground. They both planted Wilson,

Mr. Morris raised five bushels; Mr.

Wilson four and one-half; Dunlap now is the one berry as Wilson was then;

but I would add Wadsworth as a mate.

They add Jessie, Brandywine Glen

Mary and Rustic. Just think of a size of a dining table giving enough of this fruit for the family

three times a day.

I have mentioned several Wisconsin seedlings. We have about twenty that are a success. Some years ago we made a splendid show at their Winter meeting. After they had gotten through boasting, our delegate said if they would take out the Wisconsin seedlings, it would make quite a hole in their skins.

Minnesota: We have given the northwest the finest apple we grow, the "Woolly." They have a thousand new seedlings competing for the $1,000 prize they offer for a perfect winter apple; the money is in the bank and somebody will get it. Iowa has a professional horticulturist that far exceeds us for the northwest, Burhank of Cal., that is C. G. Patten of Chas.

Ca. That is C. G. Patten of Chas.

Ca. that will lead us to greater successes in the northwest.

Michigan: The two hundred

Michigan seedlings were in competition while Wisconsin seedlings were in the doldrums.
